Optimize Your Sales Performance with Our Predefined Data Products for SAP Data

Tailored, fully automated, scalable

dab Data Products offer a predefined SAP data basis tailored for advanced analytics

Automated Data Processing

dab Data Products are end-to-end workflows that extract raw data from your SAP systems, process it and generate output tables. The whole process is fully automated and can be scheduled for real-time insights.

Purpose-built for Users

dab Data Products are developed to provide insights for different departments. They are tailored to the needs of our customers, enable decision-making, improve reporting and form the basis for data analyses and AI efforts.

Self-Service

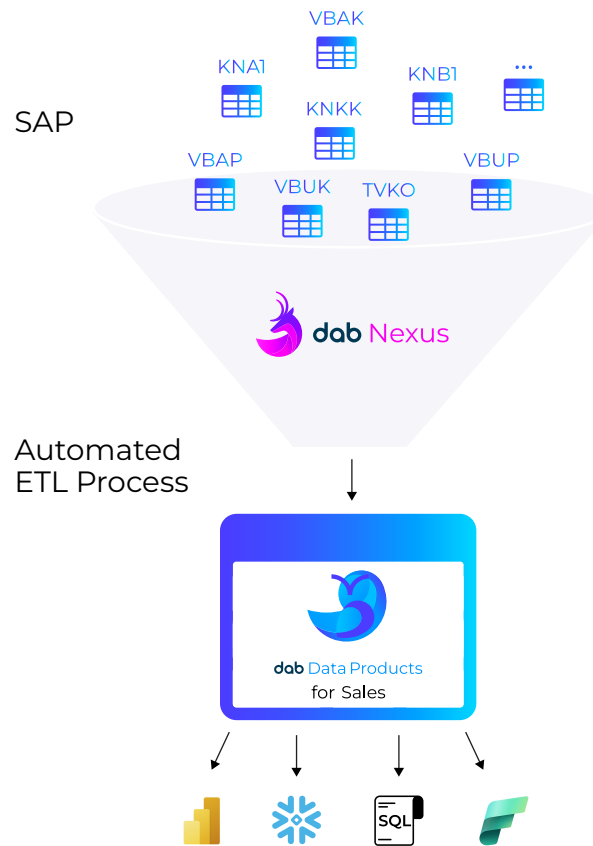

Users can interact with dab Data Products without requiring deep technical expertise. This includes things like customizable reports, dashboards, or data visualizations.

Scalability and Scope

dab Data Products are designed to handle large volumes of data and scale as the organization or database grows. They can deliver data to your data lake solutions for you and the whole organisation.

We offer dab Data Products for a variety of departments, including Sales:

Boost your sales performance with our predefined Data Products for SAP data, tailored for sales professionals to maximize their data's potential. Our solution integrates key data from Sales, Billing, and Delivery documents, offering a complete view of your SAP sales operations.

Use Cases for Sales

Elevate Your Sales Reporting with Our Data Products

By integrating real-time SAP data, sales departments can automate report generation and reduce time spent on manual tasks. Customizable dashboards provide real-time sales insights. With enhanced forecasting accuracy and streamlined reporting, your sales team will reduce errors and respond quickly to market changes, driving better results and performance.

Optimize Sales Processes for Maximum Efficiency

Take your sales operations to the next level. Our solution provides real-time visibility into every part of the sales cycle. AI-powered analytics help identify and eliminate inefficiencies, allowing sales teams to optimize workflows, shorten deal cycles, and close more deals faster. Gain control over sales processes and boost team productivity, no matter the size of your business.

Build a Strong Data Foundation for AI in Sales

Future-proof your sales department with AI-ready data. Our Data Products lay the foundation for leveraging tools like Microsoft Copilot and Azure AI Studios. Free your sales team to focus developing AI-powered use cases instead of worrying about building the right data infrastructure. We supply the data backbone—your team drives the innovation.
